THE TRIBUNE.

OBSERVATIONS ON COIN LAWS, on Politics & Party and in general, and on Clerical and Personal Slavery. In the shape of a week and a month reply to the Second Letter of the Earl of Shrewsbury, Waterford and Wexford—To Andrew Lloyd Phillips, Esq., By DANIEL O'CONNELL, Dugort. John Doyle, 10 Broadway.

CAPITAL HAITIEN.—News had been received at Port-au-Prince from Cape-Haitien, by the return of Capt. Faubert, and despatch to President Boyer, who sent him on a mission thither. The disorders that prevailed in this unfortunate city in ruins, of which we have before heard so much complaint, have been compensated by the pilage, or rather theft of the public treasure, which had been hitherto preserved, it is said, by a guard. Letters announce the conflagration of the rest of the houses overturned, and not before burnt. The fire consumed only a quarter of the city, and was extinguished by rain.

JUDE THOUER'S History of the French Revolution No. 57, has just been published by Israel Post, 33 Bowery. Three more numbers will complete this excellent work.

ISRAEL POST, 33 Bowery, has just issued the thirty-first number of the works of Lord BACON. The whole is to be embraced in thirty numbers.

THE MAGAZINE OF HORTICULTURE, for June has just been received by Israel Post, 33 Bowery.

SENTENCE OF TOPPING.—This wretched man convicted a few weeks since of the murder of his wife under circumstances of peculiar atrocity, was sentenced to death in the Court of Oyer and Terminer on Tues-day. We take the following report of the Sentence from the Express :

Mr. VANDENBURG asked the prisoner if he had any thing to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon him.

PRISONERS.—There are more persons here now than will be at my execution, I suppose. I know no more about it than the child unborn, with the exception of one thing, going into the room and coming out of it. I lay by her three hours and a half, and she died. I got up from my place, and said to her, 'rise'; there has been no victory, cooked for two days," and I put my toe to her to wake her, but there was no reply: I rolled her over on her breast, and found she was cold—dead!

LIFTED her in my arms, and took her to the bed, and she appeared like a child—she fell out of my arms upon the bed. The stream was running warm from her head then and I thought she was not dead, and I covered her so high (pointing to his coat) with the clothes. I put my head upon her bosom, and my mouth to hers—until it was, and she was dead! When I was arrested, I said we had lived together 21 years; and were we to part that way, and I ought to remember something about it. I don't even remember her features; I only recollect that there was such a person. If I am to die, I hope God will give me strength to bear it.

JUDGE KENT.—Thomas Topping, you were tried by a true and intelligent Jury—you were defended by able and faithful lawyers—and your case received every attention which could be given to it; sad it now becomes my duty to pass upon you the sentence of the hand, which is the sentence of death. You must prepare to die!

JUDGE KENT.—The Court is glad to see the state of mind you appear to be in, and hopes you realize your dreadful situation. Among the dreary list of crimes which it has been my painful duty to try was the worst; it was a cruel and lingering torture of human being, and that being the wife of your house for 21 years and the mother of 10 children.

PRISONER.—Your end is rapidly approaching, you will soon leave this world, and we shall have done all that human law can do. You have shed the blood of a human being, and the law pronounces the yours must pay the forfeit. This world is treading from your feet, but there is another world, and another tribunal at which you must stand.

(The prisoner here made another remark which we did not catch.)

We hope you speak with sincere regret, for though mercy may be obtained at that tribunal, still it will punish if that mercy is not obtained by the repeated exhortations which alone can avail you.

JUDGE KENT.—You will have all the time the law allows, and you will be attended by those better fitted than myself to counsel and advise you, but even I, a frail, erring being like yourself must direct your attention to Him from whom alone you can find mercy. Wrap not yourself up in imaginary innocence, for you are a very guilty man indeed—you have committed a dreadful murder on your wife, and the mother of your children. But I do not wish to harrow your feelings, I would only attempt to bring you to a proper sense of your situation, and urge you by sincere prayer to obtain mercy from the Almighty.

Thomas Topping, the judgement of the law is that, on the 3d of August next you will be hung by the neck till you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul!

The prisoner was then remanded apparently little affected by the sentence. His sister was in Court during the morning sitting with him—she wept bitterly. The scene was truly distressing.

GREAT BARGAINS!—Comptroller Flagg is "selling off" the property of the State at "greatly reduced prices." For those who can command real money there is a capital chance for first-rate bargains. The Catskill and Canajoharie Railroad, which stood the State is some two hundred thousand dollars, was "knocked down" by Auctioneer Flagg at eleven thousand. The Ithaca and Owego, which cost the State three hundred thousand dollars, was sold for forty-five hundred.

The N. Y. and Erie Railroad, in which the State has an interest of three million, is also advertised to be sold cheap, and the purchaser to receive the Comptroller's "thanks for the riddance." It is even rumored that the Erie Canal, which (according to the Comptroller) has "not yet paid for itself," is next to be offered at public vendue, and sold out to the highest bidder. The State of New York must be doing a smashing business to be able to make such "sacrifices," and yet prosper!
